

Irene is not only friendly and patient teacher, but also is good at gauging her student's level of knowledge and ability. Her commitment to her students is evident in how she interact with them. Irene sees each student as an individual and draws upon their strengths to teach them in ways that work best for them. I highly recommend her as a piano teacher and am envious of her future students who can experience her contagious passion and love of music first hand.

Carline Guercin
Florida